however, differences disappeared as initial comorbidity increased this effect may increase the risk of side effects, especially with high-dose methotrexate treatment left ventricular mass index reductions were numerically greater in lotrel than in benazepril-treated patients (-19.3 plus or minus 20.3 gm(2)) an estimated 8 to 23 of all pediatric patients 11 years and older have migraine, but treatment options have been limited, especially compared to adults.